FLOOR DEBATE

January 24, 2002 LB 82

SENATOR DIERKS: Do law enforcement officials have any problem with that, that you're aware of?

SENATOR BRASHEAR: It appears that there was maybe no problem last year, but there's a problem this year. In other words it's emerging. I'm...I'm telling you that in the last several days, as this bill has come into focus for those who had not previously seen it, why there apparently...there are some concerns.

SENATOR DIERKS: Okay. But your...the amendment that you've put up to the committee amendments, that doesn't really address those concerns, it just address correcting the...the statute number and the constitution number, right?

SENATOR BRASHEAR: That's correct, Senator Dierks, and I thank you for giving me an opportunity to emphasize it. I view AM2314 as a technical amendment, we are cleaning up two errors. We are correcting two errors. I would hope, even if people have difference of opinion concerning the committee amendment that we would be able to adopt this amendment because it's very brief and very necessary.

SENATOR DIERKS: Yes, I don't object to this amendment. I think that's fine. I...I guess I had some questions come from my district, concerning the recording interrogation of these people. And I think...I think that they were concerned about how much of that recording interrogation would come back to haunt them. I'm not sure what that means, but maybe you know more about that than I do. Do you?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Brashear.

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Pardon me, Senator Dierks.

SENATOR DIERKS: Well, I just wondered what...what...what is your...as you said, you're starting to get some emerging questions on it, what...what were your...what's your interpretation of those questions?

SENATOR BRASHEAR: I...I'm trying to think of the right way to
